

Lesbian Singles Meetup Beats Online Dating Anytime!

Published On Aug 25, Written by Honor Category Lesbian Dating

It's time to get real, girls. Every lesbian who is single is looking for someone to love. If you say you are not, then you are either in denial or dead. It's time to wake up, smell the roses and put yourself out there 'cause no one is going to find you if you hide yourself behind the statement, "I just want to meet friends!"

Are you into online dating? Do you really love the impersonal nature of trying to find your next love of your life online?

I don't. Not really. I find reading all those profiles and going through all the personality and preferences while sitting home isolated at my computer is not a fun way to try and meet other single women who love women.

What is better is joining a local meetup but that, too, is full of frustrated efforts.

What happens is that you meet all these women who say they are just looking for friends. Everybody says that but the truth is that everybody REALLY is looking for LOVE!

You meet people at these social meetups and all the while, you don't really know who is single and who is really looking to find someone to date!

Meetups that advertise as just social groups let women hide behind the "just looking for friends" facade.

Is that good enough? Don't you want to meet women who are honest and sincere and really ready to date?

I know I do!

I have participated and run Lesbian meetups in Long Beach for the past 2 1/2 years and one thing I have found is that none of the meetups really identify as dating meetups!

A dating meetup is going to encourage the members to be open about wanting to date and provide the setting to meet those women who, themselves, are want to get out there, date and be open to meeting someone who is ready for love.

Now, we have just the meetup that does this!

MeetLezSingles.com

The newly revamped Long Beach Lesbians Singles Dating Meetup is your answer to meeting women, live and in person!

If you find that pictures on online dating sites just don't cut it and if you feel that profile statements are not the whole truth, then maybe it is time to get yourself out there, openly and honestly and say to every other single Lesbian that you meet, I am ready to date!

Join Long Beach Lesbians Singles Dating Meetup and find her right now!

Tags: Untagged